

Radiation and Essences – amazing research to know about

I would like to make you aware of two essences (one a combination essence) to help reduce radiation. One – Electro Essence – has research to show its effect in reducing radiation from the Chernobyl event in 1986.

With the situation in Japan at crisis point, if anyone has contacts there, or knows anyone who has family, business colleagues or friends there, please let them know of these simple yet profound natural medicines. The results below speak for themselves.

Electro Essence reduced radiation levels in children affected by the Chernobyl disaster by 43% in comparison with a control group who had only 3.5% reduction*.

Electro essence was created by Ian White, producer of the Australian Bush Flower Essences, to target the increase in our daily exposure to radiation through mobile phones, phone masts, computers, TV's, microwaves, X rays and more.

Thinking of the long term effects of radiation, one only needs to remember April 1986 in Chernobyl. 25 years on the effects are still registered in the food chain and water supplies in Russia and countries on the path of wind and weather that carried radiation around the world from that event.

In 2004, a double blind, cross-over placebo trial was conducted on Electro by scientists from the Radiation Rescue Programme in Russia. These scientists had been trialling and evaluating various allopathic and natural substances for many years in an attempt to discover the most effective means of reducing levels of accumulated body radioactivity in children, all heavily contaminated as a direct result of the Chernobyl accident. The team is made up of medical specialists and other health professionals who care for the children using many modalities.

The clinical trial concluded that Electro Essence (donated by Ian White) is the most effective treatment ever discovered by that medical team in reducing human radiation levels. The children who received Electro had high radiation levels and the Essence reduced the children's radiation levels by 43% in just 2 weeks, compared with a control group which had a reduction of just 3.5%. Upon repeated psychological and psychometric examination, the children treated with Electro Essence showed a reliable decrease in the dose of accumulated body radioactivity. It was concluded that Electro Essence is a reliable and efficient anti-radiation preparation.

T1 - Anti-radiation Essence

Phi Essences by Andreas Korte <http://www.phinessences.com/>

Details from Andreas's website:

“The uniqueness of this essence is that it acts in the opposite way from all other energy essences we have researched. Instead of radiating energy, T1 essence soaks up surplus energy, thereby restoring the organism's energy balance in cases of over-exposure or stimulation. Our research has led us to conclude that this essence can be used positively in the following situations:

- in cases of over-exposure to electromagnetic nuclear radiation
- after X-ray treatments
- in cases of field lines pollution (high-tension electricity)”

Both essences can also be helpful for those experiencing radiotherapy treatment, and for those working in an electrical environment e.g. with computers, mobiles, near overhead power lines, under fluorescent light.
